Mr. Neville Langton is careful to explain that he is not an Irishman, and Lord Knutsford is not a landlord; but he candidly admits that "the description fits." And it does, for if princely begging in a great cause was ever reduced to an applied science. Lord Knutsford was the prince of begging scientists. His first public efforts were on behalf of Poplar Hospital, when, in 1891, then known as Sydney Holland, he was responsible for the re-organisation of the institution. It was while he was re-establishing "Poplar" that, on his way to the hospital one day, he noticed two Americans, in front of him on bus, studying a guide to the Tower. He invited them to visit Poplar Hospital, and they accepted. When the tour was over, the chairman pointed to a money-box, and the visitors each put in a sovereign. Looking hard at him, with a knowing smile. one of the visitors remarked: "Sure, you've got 'in you the instincts of a-swindler." while his companion added: "You'd do well out West if you weren't shot the first week." Lord Knutsford , is said still to regard that diagnosis of his "instincts" as the finest -compliment-ever paid-him-

But once he had put it on its feet, the Poplar Hospital was too small a thing to satisfy his unbounded energies, and we next find him on the greater task of shaping. the financial destinies of a better and more modern "London." to that moment it was out of-date. ineffective, inadequate, a great starved, helpless glant with a kind heart and no power, with two million neonle standing to win or lose! as "The London" survived perished. During one of his many public appeals for funds for "The London," Lord Knutsford received a Chief Engineer Wilson, of the cheque for $100 from a generous Public Works Department donor, who, unluckily for himself, referred to it as 1.000 half crowns. Will Rogers at his best. This is the .verdict of many after secing him in "Lightnin" at the King's Theatre. As the tippling husband of the owner of an hotel dividing California from Nevada he is continually in hot water, never able to do anything but "si around" the while his wife and daughter cater for seasonal invasions of prospective divorcees. One action, however, redeems his judgment-when he refuses his signature to a land deal, involving the hotel, at the instigation of a gan of swindlers. He outwits them all with the help of John Marvin who is continually hopping from one side of the border—through the hotel—to escape arrest by a sheriff on a false charge, of stealing timber from a railway company. Eventually "Lightnin's" again at the instigation of the crooks, takes a case for divorce, but is confronted by her husband in Court and they are reconciled and the crooks exposed.

"Lightnin'" is one of the drol liest characters imaginable, an keeps the house in great humour throughout. His examination of the opposing counsel in the divorce case is one of the funniest things that Will Rogers has done.

All the principal characters act vell and help in no small measure to make the picture what it is-a

The photography in the lovely Lake Tahoe district of California is extremely pretty, whilst the divorcees make a very fetching group in the grounds of the bor der hotel.

The beauty it all is that the "actors" are genuine pugilists known the world over, among them a number of exchampions and near-champions and wor d-bes.

Chaplin pulls back the partition between the training quarters and the auditorium to bring to the screen some of the possibilities and probabilities in the realm of fistiana, according to his conception. In so doing he enacts the character of fighter and the one with whom he becomes embroiled is portrayed by Hank Mann. PORTMARNOCK FEATURES.

It is always interesting to look back after a championship to see whether there are any particular points that stand out in connection with it, writes Molly Gourlay in the Evening News.

Let us look back to Portmarnock to discover what were the most interesting features of the women's lost to F. Y. Khoo and T. K. open championship played recently on that truly magnificent course. First of all must come something that, though outside the actual golf, drew with D. J. N. Anderson s placed uppermost in our minds, and that is the generosity and hospitality that was shown to every competitor by the members of the Portmarnock Golf Club.

Qualifying Rounds.

Then there was the institution of the qualifying rounds. Were they Buccess? I should say Yes. The only criticism of them that I heard was over the blank day in between, and it would undoubtedly be better If these two rounds could be played on the Friday and Saturday, instead of on Saturday and Monday ...

or are we going to wait until it is too late and we have allowed our friendly rivals a start that we cannot afford to give them? The new champion, Miss Enid

Wilson, must next be reviewed. She has the distinction of being the first golfer after Miss Wethered to hold the title of Open and British champion at the same time.

Miss Wilson is hoping to go to America in the Autumn and compete in the American championship, and possibly also the Canadian. I she could secure both these events she would create a new record, and indeed there seems to be no reason why she should not do so as the change to the American ball does not upset her game.

Although Miss Wilson has hardly been at her best during the present she played through the championship without a single bad round, while her golf in the first qualifying round and in the second half of the final-in which her score was one under fours for twelve holes-reached a standard of brilliance that was unbeatable.

Unfailingly Good.

Her putting, which has never been one of her strongest points, was unfailingly good, while she proved herself to be singularly adept at condensing three shots into two when near the green. She was extremely straight from the tee with her new driver this, by the way, was steel shafted and considerably lighter and whippler than her old one and though she was not going out to hit the ball an exceptional distance, maintained very good average length.

Miss Wilson deserved her win, for she is one of the very few, it not the only one, who really worked at her game. She practises unceasingly, and only the best is good. enough to please her. A worthy.

The championship was not remarkable for the number of new young players coming to the fore, as has been the case several times in late years In think that was partly due to the fact that Portmarnock is exceptionally long and testing, and for once, experience, was more of

SET-BACK FOR

Beverley Lyon Must Attend Business.

HIS EARLY CAREER,

The news of the probable retirement of B. H. Lyon from the cap- 5 taincy of the Gloucestershire eleven on account of business responsibilities will come as rude shock to supporters of that

Taking over the captaincy in 1929 Lyon has achieved some remarkable feats in the field and above all has shaken the foundations of Lord's with his daring declarations. His loss to the county will we hope, mean only a temporary

J. A. H. Catton writing of Lyon

Gloucester cricket jumped out of the rut when Beverley Hamilton Lyon took up the captaincy in 1929. Never has this gay cricketer allowed responsibility to weigh him 3- 6 down, to reduce his fighting in stincts to the plane of safety, or to drag him like a commonplace person into the never-never land of mediocrity. There are too many cricket captains of this class. The game is made conventional and wearisome by their static style.

One has only to study the mask of Lyon to see that he has the spirit of adventure, and is not haunted by the spectre of defeat. "Nothing venture, nothing gain," must be his creed.

How He Began.

When he was at Queen's College, Oxford, and before he became "Blue," Lyon began his connection with Gloucester. That was in 1921 and he was only 19. His first century for his adopted county (he was born at Caterham) was 131 against Surrey in 1928. An apprenticeship of seven years he served before that brilliant hundred fired his ambition to transform his pastime into a passion.

With the captain's cap peaking out over his brows in 1929 he scored over 1,000 runs and hit three centuries. Last season still more runs and five hundreds -two in one match. Last July he hit his highest score-174. Responsibility? A fig for it. Be bold. That is the dominant trait of his character. . It is plainly indicated by that strong face with a powerful jaw. Of plodders there are plenty. Never in one of these eight centuries was he amassing runs at the rate of 33 an hour. A century against Essex in 75 minutes had a Jessopian flavour. Mark 174 in 160 minutes at the wicket. On such demonstrations it is clear that he rose to the position he accepted.

He is a bright young personality who believes that cricket should be a game, not a philosophic school, nor an exact science with decimals. Half A Loaf Disdained.

His cleverness is alled to an enthusiasm which inspires his team. His professionals believe in him and speak well of him. He studies his opponents to foil them. He is a shot-blocker and a captain who is all eyes. In his first season as leader Gloucester ranked fourth and last year second. This Summer he has consecrated his thought and energy upon securing the pre-Disdaining half a loaf he wants the whole loaf every match. This cannot be possible. Good as the Gloucestershire team can be, especially when the spin bowlers get assistance, they may not succeed to the extent hoped for. Still, the captain, Lyon, will make a desperate attempt to force a full conclusion. His creed is that of oncentration on the main issue and an abhorence of timidity. If hauls downs the flag until the last uch with ton samest followers.

Married Woman Fined at Kowloon.

"USUAL NATURE."

On a charge of dumping the body of a Chinese female child. age 4 years, Young Ning, a married woman, pleaded "not guilty" at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. Mr. B. C. K. Hawkins appeared for the prosecution.

The evidence given was that the woman, accompanied by her husband went to a piece of vacant ground near the Kwong Wah Hospital, and placed a bundle on the ground, which subsequently proved to be a dead body. The woman was arrested by a constable who had the pair under observation. The man ran away.

In denying the charge, the woman averred that she was taking the child to the hospital, and she was unaware that it was dead. Replying to the Magistrate, (Mr. At the offices of the Public Works Fraser,) Mr. Hawkins said he

ALL-IN FLAT-RATE. Running Expenses, and New Car.

A new scheme which comprehends all running costs, including tax and insurance, and provides for changing the original car for a new one every 15,000 miles, has been evolved by Jowett Cars, Ltd., of Idle, Brad-

This scheme is to be applied through authorised Jowett dealers, and operated on the basis of 21/2d. per mile covered.

The purchaser of the new Jowett car enters into an agreement, via the dealer, with the manufacturers, whereby Jowett Cars, Ltd., disburse all running costs, including charges for petrol, oil, tyres, repairs, tax, comprehensive insurance and incidentals. In return, the owner agrees to pay 21/2d, for every mile; he covers, and to record on his sealed speedometer 15,000 miles in less than a year.

As soon as that mileage has been put up, he can have a new car. But if he prefers he may retain the old car until the year has expired instead of having the new one at once, continuing to pay the 21/2d. per mile for the extra mileage in Owner's Allowance.

The owner's allowance for expenses is based on petrol at 1s. 5d. per gallon, and oil at 7s. 6d. per gallon, with consumptions, respectively, of 35 m.p.g. and 750 m.p.g.; and on a monthly inspection of the speedometer the owner is charged 21/2d. per mile less running expense on these bases.

A repairs allowance of £25 is included in the running costs. Any charge in excess of this must be met by the owner, but if his repairs during the 15,000 miles do not reach this figure he has a rebate of half the difference.

To simplify the inclusion un der the latter heading of such repairs and replacements as tyres or tubes, the owner is required to obtain these from the dealer through whom the agreement is

While the car is under repair the owner is provided with another vehicle for use for the 21/2d. per mile charge. When he receives his new car at the end of 15,000 miles. or one year, his old vehicle becomes the property of the dealer, to be disposed of second-hand.

Any car in the Jowett range can be supplied on these terms, and the agreement can be terminated on the delivery of the new replacement car. The total cost to the owner is thus the price of the original car, and subsequently £156 per 15,000 miles, or £3 per week if this mileage is just covered in the year.

UNPAID SEAMEN

Rangoon, July 5. In the High Court yesterday Mr. Justice Das had before him the suit by the Secretary of State for to Rs. 9,623-4 and further charges which he is to attempt to reach the India in Council suing by Captain at the rate of Rs. 35 per day had North Pole. P. C. H. Lane, Principal Officer Mercantile Marine Department, Rangoon District v. Lim Kar merchants carrying on business in Sule Pagoda Road (mortgagees). statute took precedence over all vice. (3) Commissioners, Port of Rangoon. (4) Captain J. G. Connor, Master of the Seang Bee.

This was a suit for Rs. 46,969-11-6 being expenses incurred by or on behalf of the Crown on account of certain distressed seamen together with their wages, and for a declara-

The plaintiff's case was that the Scang Bee was a sea-going British ship registered under the Merchant Shipping Act 1894 in Rangoon as No. 6 of 1909, The crew of the ship were under two agreements, one opened at Rangoon on January 17, 1930 for a period of six months and the other opened at Hong Kong on May 12, 1930, for a period of six months.

about July 30, 1930, and had been unable to depart owing to the inability of the owner to pay the Merchant Shipping Act, 1923. necessary expenses and wages.

The crew were discharged November 25, 1930, and being distress at Rangoon, were dealt with by the Principal Port Officer, over all other claims. Mercantile Marine Department, Rangoon, under section 74 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act

The expenses incurred by the lien under the Mercantile Mer- Maats, the local agents of which. Officer amounted to Rs. 7,390 and were secured by a charge on the ship as declared by section 79 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, and recoverable with costs from the owner by suit under section 80 of the Act.

6th August.

Crew's Claim for Wages. The wages claimed by the crew amounted to Rs. 89,579-11-6 and plaintiff claimed payment of the total sum of Rs. 46,969-11-6 under section 80 of the Act. The first defendant was the owner of the ship. The second defendant was the mortgagee under a mortgage dated February 13, 1929, for Rs. 2,00,000 entered in the register of ships.

Plaintiff claimed priority over. the mortgagee by virtue of the statutory charge aforesaid, maritime lien, and Crown priority.

The amount had been claimed from the owner, who had stated his inability to pay.

The Principal Officer, Mercantile Marine Department, Rangoon district, was authorised to sue under section 81 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act.

Wherefore the plaintiff prayed (1) for an order arresting the ship in the exercise of the Admiralty Jurisdiction of this Court. (2) for a decree (a) against the 1st defendant personally for Rs. 46,969-11-6 together with interest at 9 per cent from the date of the institution of this suit on the amount and for al costs of this suit (b) declaring that the amount was a charge upon the ship with priority over all claims thereto of the defendants in this suit and (c) directing the sale of the ship and the payment out of the proceeds of sale to plaintiff of the sums aforesaid with the priority aforesaid. The first defendant filed no written statement.

The second defendants admitted the statements contained in the plaint except the amount of the prior liens which it called upon the plaintiff to prove.

Order for Sale of Ship. These defendants prayed that an order for sale of the ship might be made and that after satisfying all Huichow, British str., 1,222 tons, claims found by this Court to take priority by them that the proceeds of the sale might be paid to these defendants.

The Port Commissioners case was that by section 89 of the Rangoon Port Act. It was provided Santo Maru, Japanese str., 1,820 that if the master of any vessel in respect of which any tolls, dues or arrest made in our suance there. Lie Sairon, buoys and Corrichant File and Till and The Transfer of the Correction of the Port and such Collector shall distrain or arrest such vessel and the tackle, apparel and furniture, belonging to it and detain the same until the amount due to the Commissioners was paid.

The master of the vessel refused or neglected to pay tolls, dues, rates, charges, and penalties due to these defendants who applied to the Collector of Customs and the latter on December 23, 1930, detained or arrested the vessel and tackle, apparel and furniture belonging thereto.

. The amount due to these defendants on March 26, 1931, amounted in the submarine Nautilus, with accrued since that date.

other liens and charges whatsoever.

The fourth defendant, Captain Connor, said in the course of his written statement that he was employed by the first defendant as master of his vessel prior to June 1, 1930, on a salary of Rs. 750 per month. He served as the master of the vessel up to the date of its seizure by the third defendants. On the date of the seizure of the vessel he filed a suit against the first defendant in this Court and claimed a decree for Rs. 6,981-4 and a right of lien and charge on the ship for his unpaid wages and unpaid expenses. He obtained decree for Rs. 6,931-4.

. That claim being the amount his unpaid wages and expenses in-The ship arrived in Rangoon curred as the master of the ship was secured by a charge on the ship under the provisions of the Indian

This defendant further claimed that his unpaid wages, and expenses should be the first charge on the steel screw steamer of 8,864 (5.581 vessel and should have a priority

CHAMBER'S COMPLAINT.

A complaint recently made by the London Chamber of Commerce that British judicial procedure, though the most perfect in the world, has become an expensive luxury beyond the means of the majority of people has resulted in reports on the cost of litigation which have been drawn up by both the General Council of the Bar and the Council of the Law Society for submission to the Lord Chancellor,

Only Crocodiles on Parade.

TRAVELLER'S VIEWS.

Although it might rob romance writers of a thrill, I feel I should put on record, as I told a film-struck lady recently, that Chinese Dragons are only "crocodiles on parade." writes Dr. O. D. Rasmussen, the traveller and explorer.

Many years ago, when Europeans came into contact with China, they found a dragon symbolised in various forms. Remembering St. George, the Nibelungenlied, and other western folklore, they at once concluded that the Chinese dragon was also a symbol of dark magic worshipped While expressing the opinion that from a sense of fear. But they were there is some truth in the Chamber's wrong, as later students of Chinese folklore discovered.

Inspector Smith said he went to an unnumbered house at Sai Tau Village, at 10.30 p.m. on July 13. There he saw both the women who were being charged. There was also a bottle and a half of brandy, bottle of gin and a bottle of whisky. An empty lime juice bottle was produced by the husband of Leung Tai.

The second defendant, Loung Yau, who accompanied Inspector Smith to the female defendants' house, pointed out Fan Yau as the woman who bought the liquor. Money Handed Over.

Leung Tai said that Leung Yau came to her house and offered to sell her the liquor. Witness replied she did not drink wine, but finally she told Fan Yau, who is her aunt, and the latter purchased it for $10, and the money was handed over to Leung Yau.

At the end of this evidence, Mr. Evans submitted he had no case to answer in respect of his client, Fan Yau, suggesting that the liquor was purchased with every appearance of an honest deal. A Relative.

Cross-questioned by Mr. Fraser, Fan Yau said she only purchased them because Leung Tai told her that Leung Yau needed money badly, and being a relation she purchased the bottles for $10. She had no idea of the value of the

On the receiving charges all the defendants were discharged. In respect of the larceny Leung Yau was discharged and the first defendant Lam Ngau sent to jail for three months with hard labour.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property was destroyed, and over one thousand people were rendered homeless. as the result of a fire which razed all the houses in several streets to the ground in Hofei.

The fire originated in a grocery store at the upper part of Siman Street. Fanned by a strong west wind the entire neighbourhood was transformed into sea of flames within a short space of time.

The area of the fire became so large that the fire brigades and the local troops were entirely powerless to combat the flames. The fire continued to burn for more than seven hours and not until five o'clock in the afternoon did the firemen succeed in bringing it under control.

It is estimated that 3,000 houses were reduced to ruins, although the total casualties comprised only one old woman and two children. Hundreds of homeless people wandered the streets and the city in a panic-stricken
